

Agenda 47 | Returning Production of Essential Medicines Back to America and Ending Biden's Pharmaceutical Shortages

"This is not just a public health crisis, it's a national security crisis,"

- As part of my plan to obtain total independence from China, we will phase in tariffs and import restrictions to bring back production of all essential medicines to the United States of America where they belong.
- President Trump will restore his Executive Order 13944, (EO) dated August 6, 2020, which ensures essential medicines, medical countermeasures, and critical inputs and source materials are made in the United States.
- This Essential Medicines Executive Order strives to have sufficient and reliable, long-term domestic production of essential medications. It minimizes potential shortages by reducing our dependence on foreign manufacturers.
- The EO requires federal agencies to "Buy American". It strengthens and increases domestic production of medicines and medical devices that are considered "essential" to public health.
- The EO requires the U.S. Trade Representative to modify our international trade agreements so that "essential" drugs can no longer be purchased by federal agencies from any of the 120 countries that has a trade agreement with the U.S. that authorizes the manufacture of such "essential" drugs outside the United States but for the U.S. market.

President Trump's plan will ensure a safe and reliable supply of life saving cancer drugs and other critical medicines made in America and will also create countless new American jobs.
